

The Nuts and Bolts of a Good News Story

L. Barranger & C. Gundy

The science news has been fleshed out and the release is to be generated but what components make a good News Release? This overview is based on lessons learned and best practices from the Space Telescope Science Institute. Insights into what components go into a release package – when do you add artwork or video and how does 3D animation fit into the mix?